You can re-travel your loop as many times as you like on a standby basis until the end of the season.

Photo Stops

You will notice that there is a couple of what we call 'Photo Stops' highlighted on the network map. And this is exactly what they are, little extras between hop on – hop off points we think you should check out.

Pisa No need for an introduction, Pisa's leaning tower is famous for the poor choice of construction site and the loose earth it was built upon. Recent work has apparently stopped it moving for the first time in its 800 year history. Just don't lean against it too hard.

Neuschwanstein Perched on a hilltop, surrounded by forest, this fairytale Bavarian palace has featured in numerous movies and was the inspiration for the Disney castle. Built for the shy King Ludwig II to escape the public, he probably shouldn't have made it so stunning...

Orvieto This Italian beauty is another one that will make you gasp. Situated on top of a volcanic rock with vertical cliff faces, the town once controlled the road between Rome and Florence. The real surprise however, is the labyrinth of caves and tunnels that lie beneath the surface used as cellars, rooms and even escape tunnels over the centuries.
