

Road to the Isles walking

Our wanderings take us through the heart of the Scottish highlands, through history and folklore, and areas still the haunt of eagles. The first 2 days will see us skirting the edge of Rannoch Moor by the time-honoured paths used by drovers and military men alike. We then trek up from the Dark Mile to the ancient meeting place of Fedden on route to Laggan. On through Glen Affric, that most romantic of highland glens, leading us to the sea at Kintail. The final legs of our Highland Journey take us to the old ferry at Glenelg and over to the Isle of Skye for our last walk.

“Sure by Tummel and Loch Rannoch and Lochaber I will go... and by Glen Affric and Glen Elg to the sea, finishing on the magical Isle of Skye.”

This holiday takes place in some of the more remote and wilder areas of Scotland. Accommodation on two nights is at eco-friendly wilderness hostels where there is no road access. When staying at these hostels it will be necessary a few extra items as detailed below. On other nights a small overnight bag will be transported by our mini-bus to the accommodation for you.

What previous customers have said about the "Road to the Isles"

“The views spectacular, the walking unrivalled and the respect for nature was the best.”

“I appreciated being able to go at my own pace, unhurried I soaked in the sunshine and paddled in mountain streams.”
